Take a deep breath...

You know you're in Fauquier County when the air changes. Just 45 minutes west of Washington, D.C., fast-paced city life melts into the distance opening your eyes to the beauty, charm and wonder of this country paradise. From our award-winning wineries and quaint Main Street shopping to our rich outdoor life and historic celebrations, Fauquier County is rich with revitalizing opportunities. Whether you're here for a day or for awhile, be prepared to take a step back to a simpler time--and take a deep breath.

VIRGINIA'S HORSE & WINE COUNTRY (and Brew Too)

Steeped in equestrian tradition, Fauquier's calendar is packed with large equestrian events, including Virginia & International Gold Cup events, the Upperville Colt & Horse Show, Hunt Country Stable Tour, Warrenton Horse Show, Middleburg Classic Horse Show, Warrenton Pony Show, Twilight Polo matches, fox hunting, and various point-to-point races. Host to several of these great events, is Great Meadow Events Center, which is positioning itself as an International-level equestrian events venue.

Today Fauquier County is also known for its significant Wine Industry, with over 27 wineries & vineyards producing wines that are winning national & international competitions. Fauquier's location at the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, provides the perfect topography for growing grapes and producing quality wines. This location also offers incredible views of Fauquier's pristine landscape. Perfect opportunities to relax with friends, family, and a glass of wine – all while enjoying one of the many fun happenings at our local wineries.

EXPLORE QUAIN TOWNS & VILLAGES

Fauquier County's rolling land, traversed by wooden fences and old stone walls that speak of history, hides the quaint towns and villages that instill the special character of this unique place.

In addition to its many small villages, Fauquier County has three incorporated towns: The Plains, Remington, and Warrenton, the County seat. These historic communities, each with its own character, offer ample opportunities for visitors to lose themselves and explore, discovering unique shopping and dining experiences with scenic views along the way.

DISCOVER RICH HISTORY

Named after Francis Fauquier, Lieutenant Governor of the Colony of Virginia (1758 – 1768) Fauquier County was founded in 1759.

Fauquier County was the birthplace of Chief Justice John Marshall, 4th Chief Justice of the U.S. (1801-1835), who helped shape American constitutional law.

The Warren Green Hotel (now the Warren Green Building) was originally built on the site of the Norris Tavern in 1819. In 1825, General Lafayette was given a banquet here and addressed a crowd of 6,000, including James Monroe, Andrew Jackson and Henry Clay, who later declared his run for presidency here.

In 1862, General George McClellan bade farewell to his troops after being relieved of command of the Army of the Potomac. The hotel burned and was rebuilt in 1876. The new structure hosted President Theodore Roosevelt, and was the residence of Wallis Warfield Simpson who spent a year here in 1927 while awaiting her first divorce so she could marry the man who would abdicate the throne of England, King Edward VIII, to become the Duke & Duchess of Windsor.

The footprints of Confederate and Union soldiers can still be found throughout Fauquier County. Many battles and skirmishes were fought throughout Fauquier, its towns and countryside frequently occupied by Union and Confederate troops.

After the second Battle of Manassas, which took place just 6 miles from Fauquier County, over 1,800 wounded soldiers were brought to makeshift hospitals in Warrenton's businesses, churches and homes. Around 650 casualties of the Civil War, were laid to rest in the Warrenton Cemetery. Fauquier boasts over 16 Civil War Trail sites, many registered historic districts, numerous historic buildings & sites, and several museums.

Following the War, Confederate Colonel John S. Mosby made his home in the Town of Warrenton where he practiced law for a time prior to becoming the American Consul to Hong Kong. Mosby is also buried in the Warrenton Cemetery.

AGRICULTURE

Fauquier's agricultural base continues to be a mainstay of the County's economy, and visitors to Fauquier reap its benefits.

In addition to several Alpaca farms, Fauquier offers several Pick-Your-Own farms and orchards, including a Lavender farm where you can pick your own lavender. Cows-N-Corn, a functioning dairy farm, offers farm tours, corn mazes and a calendar full of events. Farmers Markets selling fresh, local produce, meats, cheeses, flowers, and other locally produced items, can be found throughout the County. The Marriott Ranch, a working cattle ranch, offers the "City Slicker" experience, or guests can opt for one of several trail rides offered on a regular basis.

The Plains
 Located in northern Fauquier County, the town of The Plains is located on Route 55 in the heart of wine country. This small town has a quaint village feel, with excellent restaurants like Girasole Italian restaurant and The Rail Stop. The town is also known for its unique retail shops and art galleries, including Crest Hill Antiques, Peyton's Place Home Furnishings & Interior Design, ZigZag Gallery & Crafts, Youngblood Art Studio, and Live An Artful Life gallery. www.theplainsvirginia.org

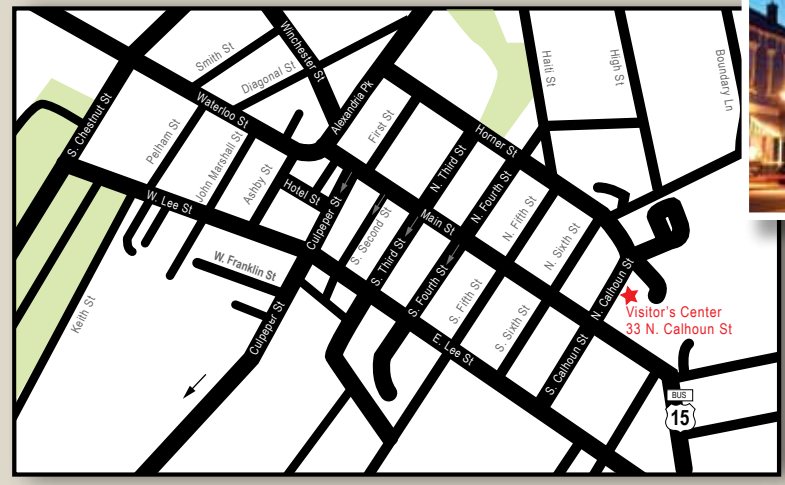

Remington
 Situated on a scenic natural crossing of the Rappahannock River in Southern Fauquier County, between Charlottesville and Manassas, Remington was founded in the early nineteenth century. The town served as a transportation link on the Rappahannock River Canal and later the Orange and Alexandria Railroad before becoming the commercial hub of Southern Fauquier County. During the Civil War, Remington witnessed numerous engagements, including the Battle of Kelly's Ford, the Raid at Rappahannock Station, and the Battle of Brandy Station — the largest cavalry engagement of the war. www.remingtonva.org
